Swiss cities cannot boast many opulent tourist sites, thus one may wonder what to see or do here. Switzerland indeed has a lot to offer: you can choose between peace and action or between culture and nature, whichever you are keen on. Nowhere else can you relax in nature, have an adrenaline rush the next moment and visit an exquisite boutique in the middle of the mountains afterwards. You will also be spoiled for choice among the best of traditional restaurants, the Nouvelle Cuisine or excellent Italian restaurants, and many more. With points, stars and toques as you wish.

Of course, some programs are to be planned, while many things can be experienced spontaneously. The selection of opportunities in this book should inspire you to gain a very personal experience.

Let yourself be tempted to get active the way it is the most pleasant for you. Ask our Guest Relation Partner on site or the customer service team at OZ Swiss. We are ready to help you embark on a unique adventure.

Titlis is the highest mountain of Central Switzerland. Up at the peak at 3,020 meters above sea level there is only one season: winter, with permanent ice and snow. The cable car Titlis Xpress and then Rotair, the world's first revolving gondola will transport you to the mountain station. Here you can enjoy a breathtaking panorama of snow-capped mountaintops, explore a glacier cave or take 500 heart-pounding steps on a spectacular suspension bridge 500 metres off the ground.

After having lunch at Panorama Restaurant, you can take Rotair and the cable car again to go back to Engelberg and continue your journey by car to the picturesque town of Lucerne. You can visit the world famous sights with the help of a private tour guide and have some free time as well.

The trip ends with a dinner in the Michelin-starred Restaurant Prisma, located on the shore of Lake Lucerne.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW OF THE ALPS FROM THE COCKPIT OF A FIGHTER JET

Take the chance and enjoy a training flight in the cockpit of a Pilatus PC-7 Turbo Trainer. The aircraft in question served 28 years in the Swiss Air Force. In 2010, when it was decommissioned the Air Force Centre Altenrhein took it over and immatriculated it for civil service.

While you are flying over the Swiss alps, your companions can take the cable car to visit Mount Säntis and even take a picture of you in the plane from the viewing platform on the top. After the flight you will join them on the mountain and have lunch in Panorama Restaurant Säntisgipfel. After lunch we take you back to Zurich.

Please note that an acrobatic flight requires fit and healthy constitution. As you can discuss with the pilot how much acrobatic action you would prefer, you can reduce the physical stress to the equivalent of an alpine sightseeing only.

What is spumante?

Spumante is an Italian sparkling wine. Most scholars believe that the Italians and the French began producing sparkling wines at about the same time, though there is some evidence that spumantes may have actually predated champagnes. Spumante is typically served on its own either before or after a meal. It may also be enjoyed alongside cheeses, crackers, or other light snacks.

AROMA KITCHEN FROM TANJA GRANDITS AT RESTAURANT STUCKI BASEL

Restaurant Stucki in Basel is a place of great culinary heritage: this is where the Grand Seigneur Hans Stucki once cooked. In 2008 top Chef Tanja Grandits and her husband René Graf Grandits took over the place and immediately won guests' and food critics' hearts with their refreshing and caring hospitality.

Tanja Grandits cooks with respect for Stucki's heritage - but remains faithful to her own philosophy: "Aroma Kitchen". She performs like an artist behind the stove and conjures up delicious meals with the freshest produce available. The dishes cooked with loving care in the kitchen are served with the same attention.

She opened her first restaurant in 2001 in Eschikofen (Switzerland). Since 2008 she has been the Chef of Restaurant Stucki. She was awarded 2 Michelin Stars and 18 Gault Millau points and was chosen for Swiss Chef of the Year in 2014.

The cuisine

"Aroma Kitchen" is what Tanja Grandits calls her culinary philosophy. It succeeds not only when tastes harmonize with each other perfectly, but also when contrasting flavours and textures, such as crispy and creamy, or juicy and spicy, meet in the mouth. The Chef

Andreas Caminada was born in the region Graubünden (Grisons) and completed an apprenticeship as a Chef at Hotel Signina in Laax. He had worked at several top restaurants in Switzerland and in neighbouring countries before he started his own restaurant in Schauenstein Castle in 2003. In 2008, he was awarded Chef of the Year for the first time and he has received the title 3 more times since. He received the first Michelin star in 2004 and the third in 2010, becoming one of the youngest three-star chefs.

The cuisine

"Eating shall be a journey involving all senses, leaving a lingering impression." Andreas Caminada's philosophy is easy to grasp. Though he prefers to work with rather simple and generally familiar ingredients, he can prepare and interpret them in many different ways so that there is a surprise for every guest. The plates are masterpieces in themselves, they are awash with colour, craft, not to mention taste.

The family name Cerea is a mark of excellence in the world of catering and hospitality. An unmistakable culinary style founded by father Vittorio and enhanced by his children who have integrated tradition with the latest techniques in recent years.

Enrico Cerea (Chicco)

Enrico is the eldest son of Vittorio. His own very personal style combines Vittorio's recipes with sensitivity and technique perfected over the years.

Roberto Cerea (Bobo)

Roberto works alongside Enrico. His passion for "first courses" has led to a succession of tempting, mouth-watering recipes, whose roots are based in the finest traditions of Mediterranean cuisine.

The cuisine

The concept of "Lombard tradition and creative genius" is the leitmotiv of Da Vittorio's menus, which are regularly updated and altered to keep up with changes in the market and the seasons.

The raw ingredients are of the highest quality and are delivered each day from their source to the restaurant's kitchen. They are combined freely, with touches of colour and tangy aromas creating contrasts and leading to a perceptible crescendo of harmonious flavours.
